A real journalist would pull Joe Biden's words where he said if the Taliban even blocked Americans (let alone attacked) they would face severe consequences.

John Kirby admits some Americans have been attacked.

John Kirby dismisses attacks on Americans because it isn't widespread.

The DC crowd is demanding you wear masks while they get caught not wearing masks. They love their power

And they protect their power with reckless voting rules like Vote without an ID. They'll say anything to protect their power Voting without an ID invites cheating.

Weird, cause there is evidence masks work to slow spread of inhaled viruses, but none that widespread voter fraud exists. Two unrelated issues, the evidence for which also is starkly dissimilar

It's scary you don't see the related issue: government flexing its power over the people. You shouldn't write for the public if you are working against our freedoms.

If we had a real media in America you'd think they'd make a really big deal about the fact that our greatest ally abroad, Great Britain, literally held our president in contempt over his disastrous and "dishonorable" withdrawal from Afghanistan.

But we don't have a real media!

Shameful partisan advocacy last year from @nakashimae at the Washington

How many Americans are left? Because that is the number. We can evacuate 100k but that means squat if we are not getting our citizens out

They did not disclose how many of the 37k evacuated were American. On Sat, it was 3.3k. I expect that number has gone up a few k at most since

The Associated Press created disinformation about DeSantis.

His press Secretary debunked the hoax.

The AP tried getting her fired.

Here is how DeSantis responded:

stand by the work of my staff who went out their way to provide the AP the best information resources. To expose the AP's predatory narrative that their response was effective in exposing the AP's partisan agenda represents a valuable service, as it reveals more than the Republican misstatement of fact.

The AP's attempt to create a political narrative has backfired, as the conspiracy theory has been easily debunked and the credibility of our organization has been diminished. This is why I support when you are in the headline and narrative as you begin reporting. The corporate media's click-bait, catch-all approach is just another day in the life of the corporate media.

You succeeded in publishing a misleading, clickbait headline about one of our relative opponents, but at the expense of deterring individuals involved with making life-saving decisions to which we all owe.

Very respectfully,

Sincerely,

Ron DeSantis
Governor

The California media have collectively dismissed concerns about the LA County ballots.

The fact is there are holes in the envelope that when the ballot is folded a certain way can expose those who voted to Recall Gavin.

This is fact.

I'm astounded that an actual emerging talking point among lefty hacks on here is that stranded Americans (sorry, Jen) might deserve to be stranded because they ignored warnings to leave in the spring.

POTUS said last month that the Taliban taking over was "highly unlikely."

Joe Biden just caved to the Taliban's August 31 deadline.

If President Trump were there, the 'deadline' would've been the day every single American is home—and not a second before. And you can bet there would've been repercussions for the Taliban otherwise.

Dems should be worried about voters seeing them as the party of weakness and chaos. Dem mayors and governors wouldn't stand up to rioters last summer. This summer Biden won't stand up to terrorists in pickup trucks. Similar weakness both domestic and foreign.

We are hearing disturbing reports that unvetted refugees are being flown into the US. Fewer SIV holders and American citizens on flights. Looking forward to being briefed at Fort McCoy today.

You knew the U.S. military was leaving. Why did you not evacuate State Department staff? Why are LES left behind?!

Outrageous incompetence.

Wendy R. Sherman @DeputySecState

So far, 15 countries have agreed to help transit Americans, and in some cases others, to safety, so we can keep flying evacuees—Americans, foreign nationals, and Afghans—out of Kabul. And 12 have made generous offers to host at-risk Afghans, for various lengths of time.

But he CAN'T tell us how many Americans are stranded in Afghanistan.

This information Blinken is giving was known weeks ago. He's talking about Americans who registered with the Embassy months ago.

Why didn't he know the number weeks ago? It should be updated regularly.

He's only scrambling now.

Someone must ask @SecBlinken why the Embassy's local staff was left behind? They are at the mercy of the Taliban.

This impacts how we are viewed in every single U.S. Embassy around the world.

Why didn't Blinken speak up earlier??

Blinken says there were ~6,000 US citizens in Afghanistan a few weeks ago. Previous estimate we'd heard was 10-15k. Officials said earlier today there were at least 4100 Americans left in Afghanistan. Blinken now gives a much lower #. Says the numbers are fluid & hard to track.

If you want to redefine "Republican" to mean those willing to lie on Trump's behalf, you should say that.

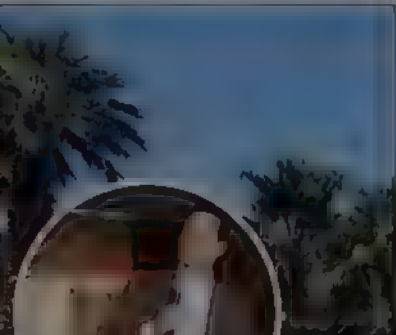

Anyway, California is a big state and I know you've got important campaigning to do.

Those two things have nothing to do with one another. But I understand why you want to distract your followers from the consequences of your entire career.

Bush had neglected to heed the inconvenient warnings conveyed in the CIA's "Bin Laden Determined to Strike in U.S." briefing. It was Trump's first impulse as well. At the start of 2020, Grenell, Trump's loyalist acting director of national intelligence, delayed the only annual open briefing

Our brave military men and women are total heroes. Pray for them and all the Americans serving overseas.

The State Department also has heroic Consular Officers and Foreign Service Officers in Kabul trying to help Americans get out.

This is a nightmare scenario.

As an Army Ranger who served four combat tours in Afghanistan, it is utterly sickening to see the chaos playing out in Kabul today...

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE
August 26, 2021

Statement from Army Ranger Jesse Jensen on the American Service Members Killed in Afghanistan, President Biden's Failure

As an Army Ranger who served four combat tours in Afghanistan, it is utterly sickening to see the chaos playing out in Kabul today. My thoughts and prayers are with the families of the at least 2 American service members have been killed.

"I am angered by what has happened, because it never had to be like this. This tragic loss of life could have and should have been avoided.

"President Biden's complete failure to execute any sort of plan has not only left us vulnerable, but is now costing Americans and our allies their lives.

"Serving four tours in Afghanistan, collaborated with many incredible Afghan heroes who stood up to the Taliban and are now in fear for their lives. I am actively finding ways to assist them in evacuating while there is still time.

"This President has completely failed our troops, American citizens, and our allies. We have the capability to end to this catastrophe immediately, and Biden has the duty to do so. We must exert our military might to ensure the evacuation of every American and U.S ally currently stranded in Taliban territory. It is past time that we take action to put a stop to the madness that is playing out in real time.

Why do Politico reporters constantly rush to protect Biden? Pathetic.

Meridith McGraw Verified @meridithmcgraw

People can stop freaking out over Biden saying he was instructed to call on a certain reporter. Trump would at times call on specific reporters from a list or just call on his favorites. Of all the things from that press conference to fixate on, that's not it.

It's disgusting to see Ohio's @TimRyan so silent on the failures in Afghanistan.

He's asking for money on twitter a lot - while failing to hold his own party to account for this disaster.

The only person fired so far for this disaster is the soldier pointing out the mistakes.

Tim Ryan is attacking Republicans more than the Taliban right now.

American soldiers have sacrificed their lives because politicians failed to have an exit plan.

Why isn't Tim Ryan speaking out against the failures of Joe Biden?! It's his party who is in charge.

I strongly disagree. It was the way we got out at the end.

We can respond to direct and immediate threats to U.S. national security without having a massive number of Americans patrolling inside Afghanistan.

The Pentagon just admitted the Biden administration left (at least) hundreds of Americans in Afghanistan—not to mention allies. We still have people there.

This is not a victory. It's a national disgrace and failure of leadership.

America's presence in Afghanistan is over, unless you count the hundreds of Americans we left in the hands of the Taliban, along with presumably thousands of green-card holders and tens of thousands of Afghans who worked with us. For them, the war is just beginning.

This CNN "reporter" is an advocate for Democrats. Everyone knows this. He isn't remotely objective.

CNN will have no credibility until it fixes this wide spread problem within its organization. It isn't a news source to be trusted when activists pose as reporters.

People discovered the Biden quote in Richard Holbrooke's diaries only this year. I latched onto it as soon as I read it, and included it in a piece for @dcexaminer last year. Worth staring at the quote again today, as it's all there.
washingtonexaminer.com/opinion/joe-bi...

would happen, and this was quite extraordinary. Joe took the position, plain and simple, that we have to get out of Afghanistan. I reminded him that the president and Hillary and indeed, I think, Joe himself had talked about a residual presence like Iraq, which he said he'd been working on most of the last year, that we would need congressional appropriations to train the army and the police and give economic assistance, we wouldn't get any of that if women were sent back to the black years and the dark ages. He said it ain't going to happen, he said I don't understand politics, he said we're facing a debacle politically, he said we're going to lose the presidency in 2012 if unemployment remains high, and Afghanistan was the other issue that could pull us down and we have to be on our way out, that we had to do what we did in Vietnam

This shocked me and I commented immediately that I thought we had a certain obligation to the people who had trusted us. He said, "Fuck that, we don't have to worry about that. We did it in Vietnam, Nixon and Kissinger got away with it." I said, "But there are larger strategic consequences here," and he said, "What are they?" and I tried to outline them. He clearly thought I was mouthing some kind of right-wing crap, and it got quite intense.

It's illegal to leak an unmasked name.

Why is Avril Haines so quiet? She could clear this up today and call for full prosecution of the leaker. She knows who unmasked the name - she sees the list of requesters.

Just like when he says, "they told me not to take questions," or, "they gave me a list of who to call on," he literally doesn't know that he's the powerful man on the planet. That's scary for a lot of reasons.

I think this is such an accurate statement. He has little idea how to be an executive. Too often he is willing to be led around by those around him. "I'm not supposed to take questions" or "they gave me a list of who can ask a question" or being swept away by handlers

This took entirely too long.

The Board is conflicted as to whether or not being a partisan liar and attack dog was in the nonprofit's interest.

There should be mass resignations on the Board now.

This took entirely too long.

The Board is conflicted as to whether or not being a partisan liar and attack dog was in the nonprofit's interest.

There should be mass resignations on the Board now.

Bern, the jobs aren't going back to Warren. If they come back at all, they're headed to the south. But sure, you found Warren, Ohio on a map the other day and read a Wikipedia article about how there was industry there once upon a time and figured it'd be a good talking point.

Grateful to the service members, diplomats, & our allies who worked tirelessly to evacuate over 120,000 Americans & Afghans from Kabul—the largest airlift in U.S. history

And we must never forget the service & sacrifice of those who bravely served over the last two decades

Anytime you see a powerful person snitch tag someone's employer, worth remembering @davekarpf's reflections on Bret Stephens contacting his Provost, and what it said about Stephens slate.com/news-and-politics.

And he apparently spends his Monday nights searching his name, not his handle, but his name on social media so he can lash out at people that have less power than him that say mean things about him. That means, A, he doesn't understand the Streisand effect. Strategically, that's dumb. But, B, it also means that he thinks by virtue of the power and privilege he has at the New York Times, he thinks by virtue of that that other people shouldn't be allowed to criticize him.

And that's what makes this a serious issue, because again, I don't have to worry. I have tenure. And my university's made it clear they have my back. And of course they do because I didn't do anything wrong. But if this is something that he's saying to me, this means that it's also something that he thinks it's appropriate to say to other people who have less power and authority than I do. And he's going to abuse his privilege in that way, it makes the New York Times look terrible, and the New York Times ought to tell him to shut it down and get out.

Crime is on the rise. Police are being defunded.

Now, more than ever, Americans deserve the right to protect themselves.

Anti-2A radical, David Chipman would have stood in the way of that right.

I never will as your next U.S. Senator.

Mandates are cheap governance. The right path is built upon explaining, educating, and building trust, including explaining the risks/benefits/pros/cons in an honest way so a person can make their own decision.

The Biden Administration has completely failed in that regard.

Shamefully, the DC media will let them get away with it. The media didn't push for answers hard enough.

Their acquiescence is why Biden spins everything.

The left absolutely doesn't want you to see the explosive growth of gay conservatives in the U.S.

People realize the fight for gay equality is largely over.

The only people keeping it a wedge issue are the Democrats.

NEW: Prosecutor John Durham has told a cyber lawyer - who works for the firm that repped Clinton campaign - that he wants to indict him on suspicion of lying about who he repped when he told F.B.I. in '16 about potential ties b/w Trump and Russia. nytimes.com/2021/09/15/us/...

A complete farce. Sussmann is trying to claim he wasn't working on behalf of the Clinton campaign when he was shopping dirt on a Trump-Afghanistan deal over town. Except Sussmann met directly with Chris Steele and Fusion GPS, who were working for the Clinton campaign cc @marceelias

In their attempt to head off any indictment, Mr. Sussmann's lawyers are said to have insisted that their client was representing the cybersecurity expert he mentioned to Congress and was not there on behalf of or at the direction of the Clinton campaign.

France should outlaw Hezbollah. They ignore Intel clearly showing the terrorist group with money laundering schemes and front companies inside France.

Hard to include countries who can't see Hezbollah as a terrorist organization.

Benjamin Haddad @benjaminhaddad

A stunning stab in the back of a key European ally involved in the Indo-Pacific. Everyone in Paris is shell shocked. The lowest point in US-France relations since 2003 (with probably deeper consequences), and a major setback to a transatlantic strategy on China.

Country's history, would not exactly instill fear in China. Milley is a complete nutjob! The only reason Biden will not fire or court-martial Milley is because he doesn't want him spilling the dirty secrets on Biden's deadly disaster in Afghanistan.

POLITICO reporter @SchreckReports has a new book confirming the emails from Hunter Biden's laptop about Joe Biden's business deals in China & Ukraine are genuine.

People complaining about pre-election censorship by Google in Russia cheered Big Tech's censoring this reporting.

FIRST IN PLAYBOOK — Ben Schreckinger's "The Bidens: Inside the First Family's Fifty-Year Rise to Power" out today, finds evidence that some of the purported HUNTER BIDEN laptop material is genuine, including two emails at the center of last October's controversy.

A person who had independent access to Hunter Biden's emails confirmed he did receive a 2015 email from a Ukrainian businessman thanking him for the chance to meet Joe Biden. The same goes for a 2017 email in which a proposed equity breakdown of a venture with Chinese energy executives includes the line, "10% held by H for the big guy?" (This person recalled seeing both emails, but was not in a position to compare the leaked emails word-for-word to the originals.)

MORE: Emails released by a Swedish government agency also match emails in the leaked cache, and two people who corresponded with Hunter Biden confirmed emails from the cache were genuine.

Germany requires IDs for voters.

Everyone knows if you want people to vote without identification then you are trying to cheat.

Haha. Are you insane? It's so easy to register. It's everywhere.

And, since we don't have IDs then the registration is the way we try and make sure it's one vote, one person.

Replying to @Woven @RichardGrenell

As well, the system of registering to vote is nowhere near as onerous anywhere as it is in the US. In most other developed nations you don't have to re-register every time and they can't just purge you for not voting.

It's early - but here is where German elections stand now.

Merkel's party struggling against the socialists. But the Greens have collapsed from earlier expectations.

It seems many Green voters are voting SPD to send Christian Democrats a message.

Zeke Miller @Zeke Miller

Since July, Biden's approval rating has dropped slightly among Democrats (from 92% to 85%) and among independents who don't lean toward either party (from 62% to 38%). Just 11% of Republicans approve of the president, which is similar to July

Some of my friends who grew up in Commie countries say that they understand so much better how the Commies were able to take control after living through the last 18 months. They can empathize better with how their ancestors failed to stop things. Very sobering.

If it was about dependency then focus should be on building other pipelines such as trans-Caspian, but in fact US officials have repeatedly said we should not fill Russian coffers. Hence my surprise when checking the figures. Look who is funding Russian defence budget!

It's not our responsibility to fund European diversification of their energy. They should see the benefit of not overly depending on Russia. Again, some Russian oil should be a part of the overall supply.

In 2020 Q regularly oversampled D's (Had Collins -12, she won by 9, had Graham tied, he won by 10, had Biden winning FL by 3, Trump won by 4, they had Biden winning OH by 5, Trump won by 8)

Unless they've massively swung the other way, this could be a disaster for Dems.

Kyle Kondik @kkondik

Quinnipiac has Rs up 46-43 on their generic ballot question (would respondents rather see Rs or Ds win control of the House). Even in years where Rs do well in the House, it's common for Ds to lead the generic in off years (as they do in other generic polls right now)

Correction: Oct. 7, 2021

An earlier version of this article incorrectly described actions taken by regulators in Sweden and Denmark. They have halted use of the Moderna vaccine in children; they have not begun offering single doses. The article also misstated the number of Covid hospitalizations in U.S. children. It is more than 63,000 from August 2020 to October 2021, not 900,000 since the beginning of the pandemic. In addition, the article misstated the timing of an F.D.A. meeting on authorization of the Pfizer-BioNTech vaccine for children. It is later this month, not next week.

The article addresses that other countries are slowing down on vaccinating children 12-17, either stopping it altogether or just giving one dose. The whole piece is about how other countries are weighing the risks and then in the US we're like nah, let's just do it.

Politico refused to run this full quote from Don Jr. because it blew up the premise of their BS hit piece on Parnell that "Trump world" was upset about President Trump's endorsement of him.

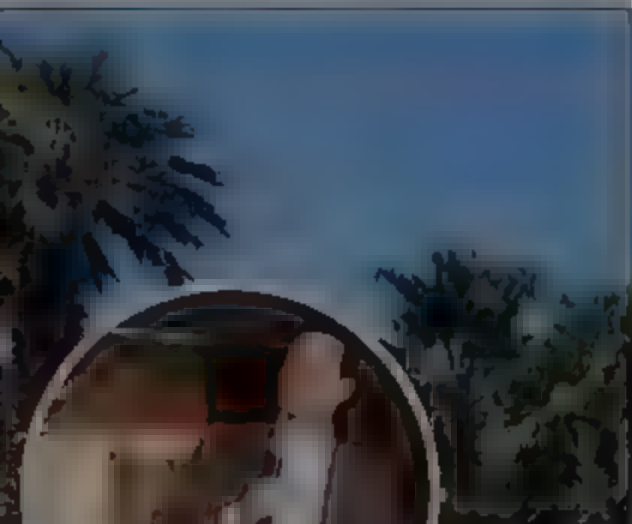

Journalists should follow & report the facts, not their pre-determined narratives.

"I think I know Trump World better than most and the people pushing this story are just upset that their preferred candidate didn't get my father's endorsement. Sean Parnell is one of the most impressive candidates of the entire cycle and is above all else a bonafide American hero, which is why my dad and everyone not on another campaign's payroll is all in behind him. It's truly pathetic to watch supposed Republicans like former Bill Clinton intern Jeff Bartos desperately smear and lie about Sean all because they know their chances of winning this race are now less than zero." - Donald Trump Jr.

NEW statement from Log Cabin on Secretary Pete Buttigieg MIA during the supply chain crisis.

"It's clear he doesn't respect the gravity of his job, but even if he had showed up for work, it wouldn't have made a difference."

Full statement here ▶▶
logcabin.org/pressrelease/ ...

"Secretary Pete Buttigieg is the second openly-gay cabinet secretary, but he is the first to fail at his job. Amid an unprecedented supply-chain crisis that is ripping apart America's economy, Buttigieg went MIA from the Department of Transportation for nearly two months. It's clear he doesn't respect the gravity of his job, but even if he had showed up for work, it wouldn't have made a difference – Pete Buttigieg was and remains completely unqualified to lead the Department of Transportation and was clearly hired by Joe Biden because he was gay and the Left prioritizes identity politics and wokeism. If the DC media wasn't so in the tank for Joe Biden and the Left, this story would have been reported weeks ago. Instead, it's alarming that a cabinet secretary in Joe Biden's Washington can leave work for weeks and no one in the Washington press corps notices."

If you are in a cabinet-level post, you give up the right to take months-long paternity leave, especially when the country is facing a ruinous supply shortage and you're Sec of Transpo.

It's just incredibly insulting optics. But enjoy your time off, Mayor Pete! Slay!

RIP General Powell. Arguing with you was an experience. I'll always treasure I've never learned more from anyone I've covered about diplomacy, ethics, resilience, forgiveness and human nature.

I have always felt your story wasn't even close to over. I am in sad shock.

Why aren't we forcing mentally ill people who are living on the streets & soiling themselves in public into treatment? Or mandating that addicts living in squalor get forced treatment?

It's compassionate to help them with their sickness or addictions - not look the other way.

What kind of parent would allow their child to be taught by this wacko?

Why are parents turning their kids over to someone they don't know?

I'd like to talk to people who think this is good?!?

Fauci's treatment of kids and puppies is clearly acceptable to the Washington, DC crowd.

We get outraged, they do nothing.

The media will give it a few days of attention and then move on. Politicians will wait it out.

Chuck Schumer's PAC launched its first ad in the nation to save my opponent.

Now it's getting taken down for spreading false information.

Nevadans can't trust Masto and Schumer's lies, this proves they'll say anything to win.

DRIVING THE DAY

SCOOP: SCOTT VS. SCHUMER IN TV AD WARS — A local TV station in Nevada took down a pro-CATHERINE CORTEZ MASTO ad Tuesday after the NRSC complained it included "flagrantly false" information about the vulnerable senator's GOP challenger

In its first ad of the cycle, Senate Majority PAC ran a spot praising the Nevada Democrat and suggesting Republican ADAM LAXALT opposed the child tax credit, "relief" for Nevada's economy and lowering prescription drug costs for seniors. NRSC Chair RICK SCOTT (R Fla.) wrote a memo to the stations airing the ad, refuting the points and threatening legal action.

Juliette Kayyem Verified @juliettekayyem

Context? Why do you think pilots are prohibited from making statements like this? Of any politics. Maybe it's a big joke, a fuck you to Biden? Or it may show lack of restraint, a temper, or worse. It could upset passengers in air. It isn't words generically. It is context. #safety twitter.com/terrymoran/sta...

The biggest change in the Democrat party in recent years has been that they no longer look at voters as individuals. They at them in the same ways they try to divide us. By race. By sexual preference. By religion. By class. By vax status. We're no longer people, we're numbers.

Warning to media companies looking for unbiased reporters who will be loyal. Don't hire @ShakeelHashim.

He's proud to be an anti-Semite. His past writings should be scrutinized now that he's admitted his bias.

What a snowflake.

...Danchenko is not someone who immediately comes across as an apex defendant — the highest target in an investigation. He is the type of defendant that prosecutors pressure to flip against those who retained him or used him in this effort.

Potential apex targets range from Steele himself to Clinton general counsel Marc Elias to other campaign officials. It is not clear that Durham has evidence against those figures but there is every indication that he is not done by a long shot with his investigation.

This is how rigorous Danchenko's investigating was. He asked the Clinton-linked operative (Charles Dolan) to give him "any thought, rumor, allegation" about Paul Manafort. Danchenko passed along what Dolan gave him to Steele, which ended up in the dossier.

Could you please ask someone to comment on [Campaign Manager-1's] resignation and anything on Trump campaign? Off the record of course! Any thought, rumor, allegation. I am working on a related project against Trump. I asked [PR Executive-1's acquaintance] three months ago but he didn't say much although shared a couple of valuable insights.

Missed votes

From Jan 1, 2021 to Feb 21, 2021, I missed 286 of 3,844 round votes, which is 7.4%. This is much worse than the average of 2.5% for all members of the House of Representatives, who are only missing 1.5% of the votes.

My missed votes are shown in the chart below. The chart shows that I missed a high of 7.4% of votes on Feb 21, 2021.

As a parent in California, it's easy to feel hopeless.

However, a growing school choice initiative could turn the tide for California families and put parents back in charge.

Let me be clear, I have and will always fight against COVID-19 vaccine mandates for Nevadans.

Meanwhile, my opponent @SenCortezMasto, refuses to state whether she is for or against vaccine mandates.

Nevadans deserve to know where she stands on medical freedom.

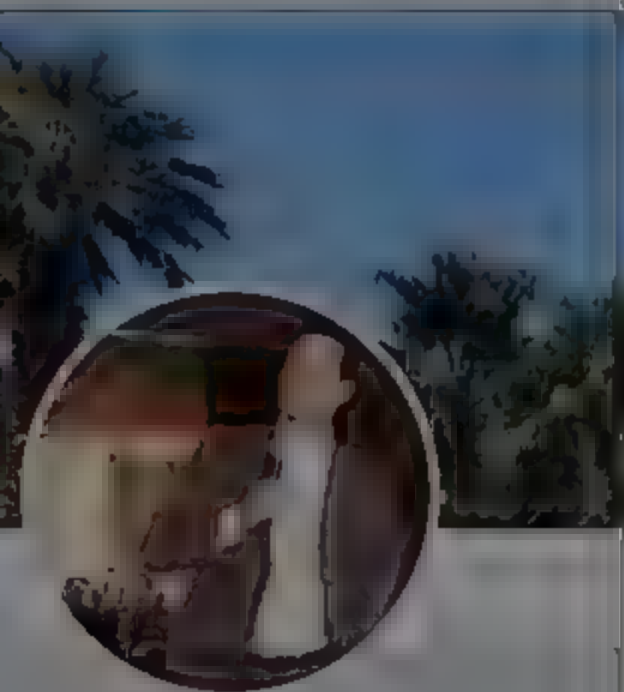

Glick: I know you are an advocate of others getting vaccinated if they haven't yet, but I'm curious to know, would you support any sort of broad-based vaccine mandates, similar to the one that President Joe Biden has recently brought up?

Sen. Cortez Masto: Well, I can tell you, vaccines are key to getting Americans back to normal life and restoring our economy. I know they are safe, effective, and free. And I have been home saying to people that, yes, if we want to turn our economy around, listen, Noah, it's just one thing I've said: The business traveler doesn't feel safe traveling yet because of the COVID and the pandemic, and that business traveler is what we rely on in our state as He is clearly pro-Trump and I am anti-Trump.

That said I'm probably older than you; I remember the @MittRomney campaign, under conservative fire, dumped him. 1/2

Well said. I do remember what happened with Grenell and it was wrong. And

Despite her claimed authority on Russia she was willing to co-sign a letter with Richard Burt of Afa Bank calling for the lifting of anti-Putin sanctions.
She introduced Danchenko to Steele (and there's nothing wrong with the former) then attacked Steele.

Nobody rates her.

3 1 1

Robert Lusetich @RobertLusetich · 18m

Fair enough but Grenell was Trump's chief henchman in what surely looked like a policy - "If you don't pay more we're out of NATO" - that was designed to destroy NATO ... and who benefits most from NATO being destroyed?

1 1 1

Louise Mensch #NoJabNoJob @LouiseMensch · 4m

Well see, I didn't see Grenell as being anti-NATO there. It's widely agreed that many nations under the NATO banner have been skimping on their payments. Anti-Trump @20commtee agreed with him on this, as did I, as did multiple I/IC. I know who in general didn't support him.
